The energy produced by the solar panels is handled electronically by the controller and fed into the battery. You can use a common car battery (no need for expensive lithium batteries as the controller used to ensure the full charge and battery operation).

It is recommended to use 12V batteries with a minimum capacity of 60Ah and 120Ah max.

You can withdraw from the battery power low-voltage, 12 V, produced by Solar Kit 60 and use it to power lighting (LED) or devices that feed at low voltage. Optionally, you can use a voltage booster (inverter) will provide to increase the voltage of 12V produced by Solar Kit 60, Voltage 220V be used for the most common variety of uses (TV, computers, small appliances, etc.) In this case the maximum load recommended not to exceed 1000W at 220V. The proposed inverters are devices with high reliability and high quality and can be purchased online.
